OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

Monday - 7 March 1977

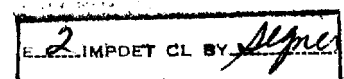

1. [ ] EMPLOYMENT Nancy Bradshaw, in the office of Senator Floyd Haskell (D., Colo.), called on behalf of a constituent interested in an employment interview [ ] After checking with the Office of Personnel, I called Ms. Bradshaw back and gave her the name, address, and telephone number of our recruiter [ ] and she said she would have the constituent contact him.

2. [ ] BRIEFING Sat in on a briefing of Representative Bob Carr (D., Mich.) on Soviet cruise missiles as related to arms control. (See Memorandum for the Record prepared by the briefer, [ ] OWI/NSD/CMB.) During the briefing, Mr. Carr expressed concern that most Members have never had prior access to classified information and do not know how it should be handled. He suggested that the Agency consider orientation briefings on the handling of classified information for all Members so that they can get a better understanding of the sensitivities involved. I explained that we do make clear the sensitivities involving intelligence collection whenever Members are granted access to classified intelligence information and it is more meaningful to the orientation to a specific classified subject.

3. [ ] LIAISON Received a call from Senator Wendell R. Anderson's (D., Minn.) secretary concerning the dates we had proposed for a breakfast briefing which were 10, 14 or 17 March. She said she had not yet been able to firm this with the Senator and will call.

4. [ ] LIAISON Returned to Jack Ticer, Senate Armed Services Committee staff, the Agency's Guide to CIA Statutes and Law which was updated.

After checking, I informed her that only Chairman Daniel K. Inouye (D., Hawaii), Vice Chairman Barry M. Goldwater (R., Ariz.), and Bill Miller, Staff Director, were invited and that they should allow 30 minutes travel time.

response to the Committee soon. I also mentioned that Senator Jake Garn (R., Utah) at a recent Armed Services Committee meeting had raised the question of the BACKFIRE bomber controversy and that we would like to meet with Senator Garn and Taylor to explain the differences on this specific issue and the overall analytic process. Taylor said he thought such a meeting would be beneficial and would try to arrange it.

Later in the day I met briefly with Taylor and he raised a question about an Agency response to the Committee's supplemental questions [ ] will advise after checking. This is Representative Dornan's first contact with the Agency.

ADDENDUM TO JOURNAL

OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

Monday - 7 March 1977

1. [ ] LIAISON Charles Snodgrass, House Appropriations Defense Subcommittee staff, called to tell me that NSA had provided him with a secure telephone system and that Bill Miller, Staff Director, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, had been provided with a similar instrument. Snodgrass urged me to get one of these instruments in my office so that we could have secure communication between our respective offices. (See Memorandum for the Record.)

I also talked with Snodgrass regarding the statements he had made to [ ] of our staff, to the effect that he would want to have our Inspector General and General Counsel appear before the House Appropriations Defense Subcommittee to talk about their oversight functions. When I queried Snodgrass about this he said this was a subject which he had only given a very fleeting thought and that time constraints might make it completely impossible as far as covering it in appropriations sessions was concerned. I suggested that if he had no monetary consideration with respect to these activities that perhaps it could be taken up at sometime in the future. Snodgrass said that it was quite possible that he would get all of the general counsels and inspectors general from the Intelligence Community together at one session for the purpose of discussing their functions. He said in any event this would not take place before the latter part of March or the first part of April at the earliest and he would give us further warning about it.

2. [REDACTED] LIAISON George Murphy, Joint Committee on Atomic Energy staff, called to say that in their review of material in their vaults they had come up with three or four NIE's and SNIE's which, within the terms of reference I had described, we would probably want returned to the Agency since the Joint Committee was being disbanded and some of its files would be turned over to other committees. Murphy mentioned that Senator Henry Jackson (D., Wash.) was expected to submit a bill to govern the redistribution functions of the Joint Committee in the next week or two but that he (Murphy) would be perfectly willing to return these documents to us before any further disposition of records is made.
